

The Day I Hit a
H  OME RUN
Enterprise

CASHMAN FIELD AND THE WILL TO DREAM

Michael "Fuji" Powers stands at the plate in the driving rain with the count two-and-two. He's one pitch away from living out his dream of hitting a home run at 51st Cashman Field. Along the way in becoming a Las Vegas legend, Fuji learns the importance of family, and there is one special girl he befriends who helps him gain the courage to start believing in himself. Filled with zany tales like fishing at Creeper's pond, playing pick-up games on a back-yard "Field of Dreams" and many, many other heartfelt, gripping scenes that will keep you reading at the edge of your seat.

Every fan who has dreamed of one day playing in a major league stadium will appreciate this book.

Charlotte Decker, Cincinnati Public Library

Dr. Mullen is a featured speaker at schools and state reading conferences across the United States. He inspires within children the importance of committing early in life to their dreams. His books engage children to become active readers. Parents and teachers enjoy reading his books, too because Dr. Mullen teaches wholesome, traditional values that students need to learn on their way to becoming champions.

$12.95

DEDICATED TO INSPIRING THE LIVES OF CHILDREN

Suggested reading ages: Young adult Genre: Coming of age, family, sports
Contact Dr. Mullen at 513.290.2189
or email mullenmike122@yahoo.com

facebook.com/DreamDoc

linkedin.com/in/drpaullmullen

twitter.com/dr_mullen

www.thedayihitahomerun.com